My Sister Lives On The Mantelpiece by Annabel Pitcher

Genre: Real life issues/terrorism/loss

It's about a boy called Jamie and he is 10 years old and he has twin sisters. One of the twin sisters was blown up by a Muslim terrorist group which caused his parents to split up. Jamie has been sent to a new school and he made a new friend called Sonya and she's a Muslim.

The main character is Jamie and he is my favourite as well because he got bullied at both schools he's been to but this time the bully was picking on Sonya and he punched him.

I like how the story was good in some parts but tragic in others. And because there were sad moments when the cat died. However, I don't like how the mum and dad split up and they lived their own lives separated from each other.

I think it would be 12+ because there were a few swear words in the story!

I would give it 9 out of 10 stars.
