Director: Blake Edwards

Film title: Breakfast at Tiffany's

Genre: rom-com

Funny and crazy Holly Golightly meets a writer and he gets swept into her wild and carefree ways. Holly is trying to find a multimillionaire to marry but then the writer (who she affectionately calls Fred because he reminds her of her brother, Fred) realises he's in love with her and it ends with them finding Holly's cat (called Cat) in the rain and kissing in the alleyway.

The main characters are: Holly Golightly (played by the enchanting Audrey Hepburn), the writer (played by the confused George Peppard) and Cat (played by a cat).

I loved how carefree and forgetful Holly was because I think a lot of people can relate to her (although I don't think I've ever felt the need to steal a child's mask or climb out of a window).

I would recommend this to anyone who enjoys old films and will understand what the characters are saying as it is just a really funny, light film!
