The Slated Series by Teri Terry

Genre: Dystopian fiction

This series is made up of four books, based on a world where rebellious teens are given the chance to start a new life by having their minds wiped. Young girl Kyla has just had her mind wiped and is now wondering about her previous life and why she was slated.

Kyla is the main character in the first book, however half way through she meets other main character Ben. Kyla is my favourite because she wants to find out all of the answers and stop slating from being used in the future. In the second book another main characters Nico and Cam are introduced, and in the third book main characters Astrid and Stella are introduced. And finally, in the fourth book, main character Sam is introduced.

I liked how the author made you feel such a strong sense of friendship and desire to protect each character. I also liked how there was more than one book so I didn't have any questions left unanswered.

I would recommend it for people in Years 8-10, as it has some quite mature themes that people younger may not be able to understand. I think that anyone who likes mysteries and romance would enjoy this series.

I would give this series 10/10.
