Title: They Both Die At The End

The Genre of the book is, romance and adventure fiction.

The story is about two teenage boys, Mateo Torrez and Rufus Emeterio, who receive a call from Death-Cast a little after midnight, informing them that they are going to die in the next 24 hours. They meet each other through an app called 'Last Friend' and they spend their end day together. My favourite character is Mateo because his character is very caring towards other people and wildlife.

I liked the fact that the story switches between characters, for example, the first paragraph is one character talking in first person and then the second paragraph is a different character talking in first person and it makes me want to read on. I didn't really dislike anything about it. In my opinion, I thought it was a really good book that I would read again.

I would recommend this book to anyone of the age 13+ because even though it's a really good book, it has some language, drugs/smoking/drinking and violence included.

I would give They Both Die In The End 10/10 stars, because I really loved the story and how sad the ending was.
